

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council (AZ DDPC) is seeking community input in order to develop its new five year plan. The Sonoran University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities is working with the AZ DDPC to collect information on what are the most important issues facing people with developmental disabilities in Arizona.

We would like to hear from you! We would really appreciate it if you would take the time to answer the following survey seeking your input on what you like about current services and supports, what you think the DDPC should be doing and what needs you have in your community. We have two surveys, please click the link which most closely matches your role (if you are both a family member and provider for example, please choose only one survey). Survey responses will be accepted until January 31, 2011.

Here are the links to the two surveys:
